Aim

Create a HTML web page for your Personal Profile that conforms to HTML features and has the following elements: doctype, html, meta (in the revised html5 format), title, head, body, div, p, headings, image, anchor, table, list, html comment

1. Your site is very simple. It consists of a page heading and sections. Each section contains a sub heading and some text.

2. Paragraph, all types of hyperlinks [external link with target, internal link, bookmark, email link, phone link, and clickable image].

3. Definition list, ordered nested List and unordered nested list.

4. Table in the given format to display information in rows and columns. 5. Set a background color and text color for the web page as per your wish.

Description

The various terms used are:

- <!DOCTYPE> : Defines the document type.
-                : Defines the hyperlink.
-                : Defines the bold text.

- <body>            : Defines the document body.
-               : Defines a single line break.
-              : Defines a section in a document.
- <h1> to <h6>   : Defines the HTML heading.
- <head>            : The <head> element is a container for metadata (data about data) and is placed between the <html> tag and the <body> tag.
- <html>            : Defines the root of an html document.
- <img>             : Defines an image.
- <li>              : Defines a list item.
- <ol>              : Defines a ordered list.
-                : Defines a paragraph.
- <style>           : Defines style information for a document.
- <table>           : Defines a table.
